The Scoop on Parasites

Development of Heartworm Disease

Heartworms: Deadly, but Preventable

In one bite, a mosquito can infect your pet with heartworms. When heartworm larvae become mature, they can cause fatal illness. Heartworm preventives protect your pet from deadly heartworm disease and from intestinal parasites that can harm your pet and your family.

Ticks: Don't Let Them Tick you Off

Ticks aren't just freeloading hitchhikers! They carry parasitic stowaways of their own which can cause Lyme disease, Babesiosis, Tick Paralysis, and a host of other diseases harmful to your pet and your family.

Fleas: We can Help Scratch that Itch!

Fleas may only live a few short months, but in that time a female flea can lay thousands of eggs on your pet and in your home. Fleas can cause serious health issues for your pet and discomfort for every member of the family.

Consider these perks to purchasing your pet's parasite preventives from our office:

- Most rebate and free dose offers are only available when you purchase these products from a veterinarian's office.
- You can trust us to purchase your pet's parasite preventives directly from manufacturers or their trusted distributors and to store them appropriately so they remain effective.
- When prescribing medications for your pet, we take many important factors into consideration, such as your pet's current health, weight, and living environment. This means that purchasing your pet's medications through our office takes the guesswork out of choosing the right parasite prevention program.

Heartworm, flea, and tick infestations risk your pet's health and cost more to treat than to prevent. Thankfully, prevention is easy. Let us work with you to keep your pets, your family, and your home parasite free! Call us today to discuss your pet's parasite prevention plan.
